

Packers Monday comeback takes it

1992

PACKERS 24, McROCKERS 22

PACKERS 24

McROCKERS 22

The 10-4 McRockers dominated the league, finishing #1 in scoring and earning the #1 playoff seed. They reached their third Fantasy Bowl in four seasons in the league, but were upended by Wisconsin native Tom Hansen's Packers (formerly Prime Time), 24-22.

The Packers were 5-7 but won their last two games to squeeze into the playoffs on the last weekend at 7-7 by winning in a division that had no winning teams.

The McRockers held the lead until late in the last game of the regular season, a Monday night battle which saw McRockers' QB Steve Young get pulled to showcase Joe Montana's first action in two seasons. Montana drove the 49ers to 2 TDs and a field goal, netting five points — and the win— for Packers' kicker Mike Cofer of the 49ers.

It remains one of the closest championship games and one of the most improbable, dramatic finishes in the history of fake sports.

The Packers were the only defending league champion to retire and not return to defend the title. Hansen, a stockbroker and part-time bookmaker, felt that the return on the investment of time was not enough.

He was, a couple of years later, not arrested for harrassing team owners K.C. Endsley and Mark Camp. They had gone into a Westside sports bar to check out some football action and walked into the belly of the Packers fan club. They were drunken, disorderly, and riled up about their loss to the Bears that day. Just after that game, Camper walked in with his Cowboys jacket on, and all hell broke lose.

They got out alive.... barely.

1992 FANTASY BOWL VI

92 PACKERS
QB RYPIEN, MARK	WAS	1	204	02							3
RB ALLEN, TERRY	MIN	1	100	22							9
RB ANDERSON, NEAL	CHI		17								0
WR ANDERSON, FLIPPER	LARM			57							0
WR GREEN, WILLIE	DET			00							0
WR SHARPE, STERLING	GB			45							0
K COFER, MIKE	SF							3	1		6
DE DENVER DEFENSE	DEN							1	2	3	0
											6
											24
92 McROCKERS
QB YOUNG, STEVE	SF		153								0
RB HILLIARD, DALTON	NO			38							0
RB SMITH, EMMITT	DAL	1		131							9
WR CARTER, ANTHONY	MIN			21							0
WR DUPEL, MARK	MIA			38							0
WR EARLY, QUINN	NO			47							0
K REVEIZ, FUAD	MIN									3	2
DE MINNESOTA DEFENSE	MIN									3	0
										1	0
											4
											22
QB ESIASON, NORMAN	CIN		00								0
RB VARDELL, TOMMY	CLE			00							0
RB WILLIAMS, J.L.	SEA			12	95						0
WR SANDERS, RICKY	WAS			00							0
WR STONE, DWIGHT	PIT			03	61						0
DE DETROIT DEFENSE	DET									2	2
											2
											6
											6

1992 ALL-AWFFL TEAM

QB STEVE YOUNG	McRockers	49ers	111
RB EMMITT SMITH	McRockers	Dallas	135
RB BARRY FOSTER	Sandy's Tight Ends	Steelers	102
WR STERLING SHARPE	Packers	Packers	99
WR JERRY RICE	Cowboys	49ers	75
WR ANDRE RISON	Melba Toast	Falcons	72
K MIAMI KICKER	Rough Writers	Stoyanovich	124
D KANSAS CITY	Chiefs	K.C.	155

1992 Weekly Winners

1. Packers	42
2. Bombballbusters	52
3. Death Campers	52
4. Packers	62
5. Sandy's Tight Ends	47
6. Chiefs	46
7. Cowboys	59
8. Chiefs	49
9. McRockers	49
10. McRockers	72
11. McRockers	49
12. Cowboys	71
13. Packers	57
14. Cowboys	55
15. Packers	43
16. Cowboys	52
17. Chiefs	45
Packers	5*
Cowboys	5*
Chiefs	4*
McRockers	3
Death Campers	1
Sandy's Tight Ends	1
Bombballbusters	1

For the second year in a row, the Jalapeños had the #1 overall pick in the draft. In 1991, they took Barry Sanders, who had also been the #1 pick in 1990. In '92 they opted for Thurman Thomas, who had the best statistical season of his career, with 2,113 yards from scrimmage and 12 TDs.

FANTASY BOWL VI

PACKERS.....24
McROCKERS.....22

1992 THIRD PLACE BOWL

CHIEFS.....45
BALLBUSTERS.....22

WEEK #17

WEEKLY WINNER: CHIEFS (45)

12/31/92

Montana returns to become improbable Super Bowl MVP once again

Pack sacks Rocks in last quarter

When Joe Montana entered what appeared to be a meaningless, season-ending Monday Night game, fans from San Francisco to southwest Houston cheered. But in northwest Houston, in the McRocker ranch hot tub, it was a different attitude. Going into the game, the McRockers held a precarious 22-18 lead over the Packers in Fantasy Bowl VI, with Steve Young pitted against kicker Mike Cofer for the decisive points. Young worked one half and failed to score. Odessa Turner landed with one foot out of the end zone and on the same drive, Young decided against the quarterback sneak and handed off to reserve fullback Marc Logan for the only TD of the half. The extra point by Cofer made it 22-19 with one half to go.

Then Montana entered the game and changed the course of AWWFL history. Montana's first drive resulted in Cofer knotting up the Fantasy Bowl with a field goal; still, the McRockers held an edge in bench points that could break a tie. But, when Andre Ware's errant pass was picked off in Lion territory, Montana iced the game for the Pack with a toss to Brent Jones with less than 12 minutes left in the season. An insurance TD pass to Amp Lee gave the Pack yet another extra point. Young remained on the bench, Montana got six meaningless points and the Packers got the two extra points they needed via Montana to win the Fantasy Bowl.

Five weeks ago the Packers were 5-7 and a game away from extinction in the 1992 AWWFL season. They had started off with a hot 4-1 record, then lost five straight games in a mid-season slump. They squeaked into the division championship by winning their last two games in a division where they were the only .500 team, and took their 7-7 record, the lowest of the playoff competitors, into battle. Over the four games prior to the Fantasy Bowl, they averaged 50 points; the McRockers had averaged 40 over the 14-week season, so the Fantasy Bowl match-up promised to be a high-scoring affair. But it was a knock-down drag-out defensive battle that favored the Packers' heavily NFC-laden lineup, and the Pack avenged a 72-28 pasting administered by the McRockers in week 10.

Ironically, it was defense that cost the McRockers; their Minnesota Defense had led the league in scoring (up until the Chiefs outburst of 28 points on the last day of the year), but in the Fantasy Bowl, when the Vikings blasted the real-life Packers 27-7, but scored only 4 points on defense after averaging nearly 9 ppg.

For the McRockers, it was their third Fantasy Bowl appearance in four years in the league, which is quite an accomplishment. They finished as the league's highest scoring team (the Packers were second.) A two-point Super Bowl loss can haunt a team owner all spring and summer, so you can bet the McRockers will be ready for the 1993 draft (date and time TBA!)

NOTE: SUPER BOWL PARTY AT WAYO'S IN SUGARLAND. CALL 227-6718 FOR MORE DETAILS. YOU WON'T WANT TO MISS THIS ONE!

Week #1.....	Packers.....	42
Week #2.....	Ballbusters.....	52
Week #3.....	Death Campers.....	52
Week #4.....	Packers.....	62
Week #5.....	Tight Ends.....	47
Week #6.....	Chiefs.....	46
Week #7.....	Cowboys.....	59
Week #8.....	Chiefs.....	46

1992
WEEKLY
WINNERS
 Week #17
 Chiefs
 45 points
 *****$100 *****

Week #9.....	McRockers.....	49
Week #10.....	McRockers.....	72
Week #11.....	McRockers.....	49
Week #12.....	Cowboys.....	71
Week #13.....	Packers.....	57
Week #14.....	Cowboys.....	55
Week #15.....	Packers.....	43
Week #16.....	Cowboys.....	52